EASTERN STATES.

Some of the Results of Democratic Administration in New York.

NEW YORK, March 8 —An immense crowd gathered in the court room this morning to hear Garvey's statement in the Hall case Counsel for the defense concluded his argument against the admission of testimony on the fraudulent character of the bills upon which the warrants were issued, and Judge Daley decided to admit the question Garvey thereupon testified that claims paid him were neither just nor honest He said they fraudulently seized large sums of money, a portion of which went to Tweed, to be used for political purposes Garvey said My whole bill amounted to $246 660 I was to have $126 000 for other people, and I was to and did give Tweed $50 000 to go to Albany to influence the Legislature I made a fraudulent bill for $395,660

How much did you receive? was asked

I received 35 per cent of the whole bill, without interest, $50,000 I gave Tweed, $60,000 I spent for buildings in Greenwich Conn, $30,000 for Woodward, in Connecticut $20 000 for plastering the house of Walter & Roche, $5,000 for myself, to be spent in politics I got my blanks out of the Supervisor s office In regard to the history of this particular account of $395 660, the latter part of May I gave a bill to Woodward, deputy clerk of the Board of Supervisors He took it to Auditor Watson's office I went with Woodward On the 6th of June Woodward went with me to a room under his room I gave Woodward a check on the Broadway bank for $110,635 13

The Times says ex Controller Connolly now is and has been, for the last three months, residing in New Jersey, within an hour's ride of the city

Contrary to general expectation comparatively little interest appears to be taken by publishers in this country in the international copyright question The general opinion seems to be that a law which would be satisfactory and just to all parties concerned is not to be expected on the present basis of human nature, and that the best law that could now be passed would discriminate in favor of a few great houses to the serious detriment of the smaller dealers It is also urged that among honorable publishers, and the authors of books which are really valuable and advantageous to literature in all its departments the general rule which at present prevails of making definitive pecuniary arrangements with regard to publication in other countries is satisfactory to all parties concerned The gist of opinion concerning the matter seems to be that little would in any event be gained by an international copyright law and that it is impossible to frame one which shall bear equally on all

Temperance in Politics.

The State Temperance Convention which was held at Salem last month wisely decided that it was best not to raise a distinctive prohibition issue in the approaching political campaign. We say wisely, because it is well known that gradual and moderate changes may be made, when radical measures, if attempted, would fail altogether. But, from what we hear from some counties, we infer that the "temperance element" is not proceeding in local affairs with as much judgment as was evinced at the Temperance Convention. In some localities, unless we are misinformed, they wish to insist on stringent prohibitory resolutions, and to support none but "Good Templars" for office. We warn them that if such is their purpose they are taking a course which will result in greater injury to the cause they desire to serve and promote than anything else could. Four-fifths of those who insist on stringent prohibitory legislation are Republicans. The few Democrats who profess to be Good Templars or Prohibitionists will never under any circumstances vote any other than a Democratic ticket. Every one of them will vote his party ticket straight, no matter how strongly it might be scented with gin; hence the only result of raising a prohibition issue will be to call off votes from the Republican ticket; or, in case a prohibition ticket is nominated in the name of the Republican party, to render its defeat very probable. Experience has given proof of these facts often enough. Will those who insist on raising an issue like this have the goodness to ask themselves what they hope to gain for their cause from a Democratic Legislature? They want a change in our license laws. Do they imagine they can get restrictive legislation from that quarter? The supposition is too infinitely absurd to be entertained for a moment. The result, then, of making such demands and pushing them in an election is to render all reform impossible. It is to set the cause back to where it was long ago, and to lose the advantage slowly and surely gained by progressive and gradual change. Not until Democrats can be found who will vote their ticket for temperance principles can any progress be made by pushing temperance into party politics. It is understood that certain modifications of our license laws will be sought at the next session of the Legislature. A committee has been appointed by the State Temperance Convention to draft them. But let the temperance organizations insist on nominating prohibition tickets and making a fight on that line, and they may as well save themselves the trouble of going to the Legislature and fail to ask the adoption of their measures. They will have a Legislature that will give them nothing, except, perhaps, a courteous invitation to take a drink.

A Theory Examined.

Referring to a paragraph that appeared in this paper the other day, the Herald says there is a "difference in the practice of the two parties," which it thus defines:

> We turn our thieves out of office, when detected; but you white-wash yours and let them stay in.

This is nothing more than groundless assertion. The journal that is so ready with sweeping accusations like that contained in the last clause of the above sentence cannot substantiate what it says. It cannot show a single instance where a known thief has been "white-washed" by Republicans and retained in office. Charges like this are mere indiscriminate slanders. This, perhaps, is not putting it as strongly as it deserves, but it would hardly be considered genteel to say the word that would exactly describe such unfounded assertions.

You turn your thieves out of office, do you, when they are detected? We do not hear that you have turned out Mayor Hall of New York City, who signed warrants that helped the gang of thieves with whom he was associated, and who stood at the head of the Democratic party of New York and of the United States, to untold millions of dollars. We have heard, however, that you re-elected Tweed, the great thief of the ring, to a high office by an immense majority, after all his crimes had been exposed and he had become a figure for the world's scorn to "point the slow unmoving finger at." He still holds this office; so on the whole it appears that you don't turn your thieves out of office when detected; you re-elect them.

This is plain speaking; but it sometimes requires plain speaking to expose Democratic pretensions. It does not become a party which has just been detected in villainies whose enormity has shocked the world, and whose members are being dragged daily before the tribunals of justice by an enraged and plundered public, to set up a claim to immaculate purity. There is this difference to be considered: We have proven Democratic administration, where it has had its fullest, fairest and best trial, to have been a vast system of public robbery. You assert the same thing of Republican administration, without proving it. Not that there are no wrongs and abuses under Republican administration, but that these wrongs and abuses are exceptional and occasional, and are corrected as soon as they are exposed. There is measureless defamation of President Grant; but the New York Herald, a paper which is entirely independent of all parties, only speaks truth when it says that "nothing has been urged against Grant that does not upon reason and analysis prove to be vulgar scandal."

We do not assert that the Democratic party is all corrupt, or that the Republican party is wholly pure. But we do say that parties in general may be known by their fruits. As a fruit of Democratic administration we point to the immeasurable rascality in New York, where millions have been stolen, taxes increased, and the city plunged ruinously into debt. As a fruit of Republican administration we point to large reductions of the public debt, to decreased taxation, and to national prosperity that is unexampled in any former period of our history. Here is a picture that is at once a comparison and a contrast. It is seen and known of all men.

Referring to the discussion on the sale of Government arms, the Boston Advertiser has this: "Those who know how long this grand assault has been in preparation will appreciate the closing remark of Senator Morton: 'I heard that it was coming; that it was a great mine by which the administration was to be blown into the air, and that after this mine had been exploded, General Grant could no longer be regarded for a moment as an available candidate for the Presidency. Well, sir, the mine has been exploded; instead of Gen. Grant being hoisted, I think it is the engineer.'"

OREGON.

A few days ago Miss Laura McLree died very suddenly at Corvallis while sitting in a chair by the fire.

Over $12,000 has been secured by Dr. Hill toward the endowment of the McMinnville (Baptist) College.

There are four hundred and forty school children at the Dalles. The number of each sex is precisely equal.

There are no means of protection against fire at Eugene, and the Journal urges that a fire company be formed at once.

Captain L. N. English, living nine miles south east of Silverton, has lost during the past winter eight head of horses by the blind staggers.

The jail of Washington county has been empty for six months, and there is no indication of any one taking up an abode in it till next fair time.

In a row at Canyon City, Grant county, a few days ago, Joseph Oldfield was stabbed in eight or nine places by "Dad" Akers. It is believed the wounds are not mortal.

In Lane county our Democratic brethren who want office and want to get their competitors out of the way are writing letters for those competitors, withdrawing them from the field. This shows great fertility of expedient.

On Thursday evening five prisoners made their escape from the Lane county jail. General jail delivery has become so common in Lane and Linn counties that it is proposed up there to get a lot of lariats and "stake out" prisoners on the grass for safe keeping.

Says the Eugene Guard: After the fire on Monday a "nice" young man felt a little fatigued and went into a saloon and took a drink. Shortly afterward he felt a slight squirming in his stomach, and in a few minutes ejected forty-seven feet of tape worm. The whisky was too much for the worm. The reptile died of delirium tremens, but the young man still lives.

The total number of school children in Washington county is 1,865. Average attendance at school last year, 900. Number of school districts, 37; number reported, 36. Amount of fund on hand, $2,718 60. Interest on irreducible fund, $1,300. Total, $4,018,600. Our correspondent says: "The $1,300 interest on the irreducible school fund has been ordered held by the State Board, for what purpose we do not know, unless it be to build locks or purchase swamp lands."

Washington correspondence of the Eugene Journal gives this: Rev. Father Mesplie, a Catholic priest, arrived here last week from Idaho. He favors the removal of the Umatilla Indians to Fort Hall, and wants Major Barry to remain in charge of that agency as the representative of the Catholics, but is willing to let the Methodists have Grand Ronde, lately transferred to the Catholics by the removal of Mr. Dyar and the appointment of Sinnot. He is also dissatisfied with the removal of Mr. Meacham.

The Real Estate Record (Walla Walla) says: An order has been received at LaGrande ordering the Register of the Land Office at that place to withdraw (in favor of the N. P. R. R.) from sale all the land in his district as far south as one township south of the base line. The southern limits of this tract withdrawn pass about forty-five miles south of this city, and runs through the Butter creek and Birch creek countries, passes over the Blue mountains and cuts Grand Ronde valley near the middle, passes through to the south of Willowa valley, and from thence east to Snake, above the mouth of Powder river. Those familiar with the district withdrawn will see that it embraces a large tract of the very finest portion of Eastern Oregon. It is about forty miles wide by something over three hundred miles long, and lies along the Columbia river and the northern boundary of the State.

It has been ascertained by the Herald that Senator Trumbull has quit the Republican party. That paper considers this a most important "defection." Our neighbor as a chronicler of events is some years behind the times. Senator Trumbull's "defection" from the Republican party is not so recent as to excite special remark. He has been considered out of the party rather than in it, since early in 1868. He was one of the six Republican Senators who abandoned their party to save Andrew Johnson; and, we may remark, the only one of the six now remaining in the Senate. He was fortunate enough to have just begun a term when he voted to save Johnson, or he would ere now have shared the fate of the others who were sent into retirement. His term will end next March, and he will never be re-elected. It is true that he has occasionally supported Republican measures since 1868, but he has more often opposed them, and no one has for years considered him in full accord with the Republican party.

On Saturday at one o'clock a Convention composed of delegates chosen in the several precincts of the county assembled at the Court House to elect delegates to the Republican State Convention, which is to assemble in this city on the 20th inst. The proceedings were marked by perfect unanimity. After an organization was effected, the Convention proceeded to elect twenty-four delegates. They were all elected by a single ballot, each of the twenty-four voting for himself and twenty-three of his associates. To avoid all excuse for dissatisfaction, it was thought prudent not to elect any outsider to the State Convention. We like harmony. Now if we could only get a county ticket nominated on these satisfactory and harmonious principles!

A slip of the pen the other day made us say that Mr. Corbett had induced the Senate Committee on Commerce to agree to an appropriation of fifty thousand dollars for a dredger for our rivers. We should have written the House Committee. Our kind neighbor of the Herald, ever on the alert for trifles, makes this little mistake the basis of quite a long article. It is said that one good turn deserves another; so we would remind our neighbor that in his paper of Sunday he has confounded Senator Chandler of Michigan with Wm. E. Chandler of New Hampshire. The last named gentleman is Secretary of the National Republican Committee.

It must be rather embarrassing for the Herald to be constrained to print in its telegraphic dispatches the testimony of the wholesale Democratic swindling and thievery in New York and Brooklyn, while at the same time it is trying to make its party appear as a model of purity, and its opponents as the party of thieves and swindlers. So while its own columns are thus made to furnish indisputable proof against its own party, it can find little against its opponents but unfounded accusations and manufactured calumny.

An ingenious individual thus figures up what our claims on Great Britain ought to be:

Destruction of vessels	$17,900,633
War premiums	1,120,795
Interest	13,316,000
Change of shipping	10,000,000
Pursuit of pirates	5,000,000
Prolongation of the war	375,000,000
Total	$422,331,428

We may add that these are not the figures that have been presented to the Geneva Conference.

Will Mr. A. T. (Augustus Tullius) Weddle and Mrs. Maggie Weddle, "Professors of the Electrical Power of the Mind," cease to bore us with their communications, or begin to write common sense? Our waste paper basket is full and our patience is exhausted.

THE TERRITORIES.

There is a rumor that Surveyor General Ferry of Washington Territory is to be appointed Governor.

The bridges between Pumphrey's and Monticello are all gone. Last week the mails could not get through.

David Phillips, of Seattle, a resident of the Puget Sound country since 1852, died on the 6th instant, aged 71 years.

A long article appears in the Real Estate Record (Walla Walla) in favor of opening a better and shorter route from that place to Grand Ronde, in Oregon. The project is an important one, and should be pushed ahead.

The Seattle Coal Company have purchased from Messrs. Meigs & Gawley the bark Osmyn, to be used for the transportation of coal from Seattle to San Francisco. They intend having a sufficient number of vessels of their own to carry away their coal.

Some time during the month of February three boys of Mr. James Spray, aged respectively 19, 16 and 8 years, were caught in a snow-slide in Madison valley, Montana, and all perished. The necks of the boys were broken, and the sides of their faces and heads toward the hill were badly bruised. When found the bodies were buried six feet deep in the snow.

From the Vancouver Register: "The surveying party under Captain Maxwell, who are charged with the work of surveying the road from Kalama southward, have reached Quigley's farm, on Lake river, eighteen miles north of Vancouver. They crossed Lewis river about half a mile below Judge Lancaster's residence, and are establishing an air line through the Lewis and Lake river bottoms from Martin's Bluff to Vancouver. They are expected to reach here next week."

Last Thursday a fire occurred on Coal creek, near the mouth of the Cowlitz river, at the logging camp of Messrs. Ross & Holden, destroying a large quantity of provisions, blankets and tools. The men working at the camp were in the woods, and by some means the frame work of the fireplace fell in and thus communicated the fire to the whole building, which was completely destroyed. Fortunately the cattle shed escaped, and the hay and feed for their oxen was not burned.

We learn from the Port Townsend Argus that the schooner Reindeer, hailing from Skagit river, and which left Port Ludlow some two weeks ago in search of drift logs, was picked up below Point Partridge on Saturday morning by some Italian fishermen of Port Townsend. At the time they found her she was on fire, her masts cut away, bowsprit and rudder gone, her cabin completely gutted of everything, and considerable water in her hold. There were on board, at the time she left Port Ludlow, Charles King and Charles Hawkins, since which time nothing has been heard from them. Whether they were boarded by Indians and foully dealt with remains thus far a mystery. From parties who came up on the steamer J. B. Libby last Friday we also learn that there was a rumor current down the Sound that when the schooner was first boarded there were found two men and one clootchman lying dead on board, with their throats cut.

OREGON POLITICAL NOTES.

Washington county delegates to the Republican Convention will support W. D. Hare for Prosecuting Attorney.

It has been said that voters have been colonized on the Oswego canal, in Clackamas county. This is a mistake. Only seven men have been sent there from Washington county, and these were sent to work, not to vote.

Delegates from Washington county to the Republican State Convention are as follows: G. C. Day, W. Robinson, W. R. Everson, S. H. Elliott, J. D. Merryman, Geo. Campbell, R. Patton, I. Meyer and J. C. Moore.

The Benton County Republican Convention met on Saturday and after nominating the county ticket elected the following delegates to the State Convention: Kelsay, Withers, King, Wilson, Chenoweth, Lilly, Johnson, Chambers, Simpson, Boswell and Folger.

We have heard the names of only a part of the candidates nominated by the Republicans of Clackamas on Saturday. For the Senate Hiram Cochran is nominated. Representatives, — Matlock, — Biran and — Crawford. Sheriff, — Ramsby. Clerk, Peter Paquet.

Following are the delegates from Lane county to the Republican State Convention: W. W. Bristow, A. McComas, Geo. Humphrey, B. F. Dunn, C. W. Washburne, Geo. Marshall, John Kelly, Roscoe Knox, M. P. Martin, N. Martin, J. M. Dick, T. J. Vaughn and Frank Crow.

At their Convention on Saturday the Republicans of Marion county elected the following Central Committee: T. B. Rickey, Chairman; Chas. Bowie, C. B. Woodworth, J. A. Huffman, L. H. Poujade, E. N. Thomas, David Newsom, Linus Brooks, A. D. Coolidge, W. W. Northcut, Wm. Darst, John Downing, J. W. Grim, J. C. Peebles, Wm. Cline, John Goodell, Wm. Case.

Republicans of Marion county nominated a full ticket on Saturday. It is as follows: Representatives, R. Mallory, T. McF. Patton, Wm. Darst, John Downing, and Joseph Engle. Sheriff, L. S. Scott. Clerk, J. J. Murphy. Treasurer, J. E. Baynton. School Superintendent, P. S. Knight. Assessor, Thomas Shaw. Commissioners, Wm. M. Case and Wm. Porter. Surveyor, L. H. Judson. Coroner, T. W. Shelton.

Marion county sends twenty-four delegates to the Republican State Convention, as follows: R. Mallory, L. S. Scott, W. P. Lord, A. J. Monroe, G. P. Holman, N. B. Knight, S. A. Clarke, O. G. Savage, Joseph Engle, H. Ankeny, John Newsom, M. Hosford, James Gardon, J. C. Davenport, D. M. Keene, Wm. Darst, C. H. Davis, Stephen Smith, A. Hovenden, J. C. Peebles, Henry Smith, W. Dunegan, John Hooper and J. S. Vaughn.

The President and the Politicians.

BY LEONARD BACON, D. D.

President Grant seems to have thought that he came into office not as the servant of a party, but chief Magistrate chosen by the American people; and, in my opinion, he had good reason to think so. The "men inside of politics" would not have permitted him to be President if they had known how to baffle what was manifest destiny." It was not much that they knew about the man; but they knew that he was not one of their sort. He was nominated by the Republican Convention because the managers knew that to nominate any other person would be to invite disaster. His becoming the Republican candidate was not so much a favor conferred on him as it was a favor conferred by him on the party. It was as the conqueror of the rebellion, and not as the standard-bearer of a horde of office seekers, that he was chosen President.

Such seems to have been his understanding of the case when he began to administer the government. He saw that, under the constitution, it was his duty, and nobody's else, to nominate and, with the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint all officers of the national government, with a few unimportant exceptions. He assumed that, in making these nominations, he was to use his own discretion, guided by the best information which he could obtain, from whatever quarter. Accordingly, his cabinet was not constituted under any dictation from the politicians; and his nominations to other offices were often a surprise to men who thought that their positions in "the party" entitled them to a controlling voice in the distribution of the spoils. There was a growing dissatisfaction on the part of senators and representatives, who found that what they had supposed to be their patronage in their several States or districts was in danger; and sometimes that dissatisfaction found expression in a refusal by the Senate to confirm nominations made by the President, the only reason alleged for the refusal being that the person nominated had not obtained the nomination through the Senator to whom, by the usages of the party, it belonged. The dissatisfaction was not lessened when the Attorney General actually informed certain members of Congress that the appointment of clerks in his office was his business, and not theirs. On the contrary, when that Attorney General, not long afterward, was nominated to a vacant place on the bench of the supreme court, his audacity in presuming to mind his own business was punished by the refusal of the Senate to confirm the nomination.

A history too long to be given in detail may be summed up by saying that to a great extent the appointing power, given by the constitution to the President, had been really usurped by members of Congress. By virtue of certain party usages, which began we know not how long ago, and which seem to have been systematized into explicit though unwritten law under the unfortunate administration of President Johnson, the "patronage" of the government, as it is called, (and that word patronage, in politics, carries with it the idea of mercenary influences and motives,) was almost entirely parceled out among the senators and representatives of the dominant party, each Senator from a State having the right to distribute certain offices among his political friends, and each representative having the same right to dispose of certain other offices in his district. As a matter of form, and in deference to the letter of the constitution, nominations were made and commissions issued by the President, but it was beginning to be understood that he was to have about as much freedom in that function as belongs to the dean and chapter of an English cathedral in the election of a bishop. The President who should dare persistently to use his own discretion in the matter of appointments must expect to be denounced as a traitor to his party, and to be involved in various consequences, hardly less disagreeable, in the aggregate than a writ of premunire.

It was in this way that President Grant was getting into trouble with Congress and with the Republican party. He found himself drifting into a position similar to that in which his predecessor suffered two or three years of torture, or of what would have been torture to almost anybody else than Andrew Johnson. He saw that the usefulness of his Administration was likely to be wrecked in a bootless fight with Congress about "patronage," and being a more scientific fighter than his predecessor, he prudently withdrew from the conflict. The politicians had gained what seemed to them a victory, and thenceforth the spoils were to be distributed on the most approved principles. Of course it was easy for the victorious politicians to say good words in favor of reforming the civil service, and to commend the beautiful theory that the persons employed by the Government ought to be selected and retained for their capacity of doing their work, and their fidelity in it, rather than for their efficiency in local politics and their contributions to electioneering expenses. Such homage paid by vice to virtue was cheap, and the people were pleased with it. A civil service bill was not only popular, but harmless, if not permitted to become a law; and of its becoming a law there was little danger, especially after the discovery that any law to control or limit the discretion of the President in appointing to office would be unconstitutional.

But suddenly the politicians find themselves outflanked, and behold the conqueror of the rebellion is master of the situation. "Mr. Grant is a dreadfully obstinate man," and this they might have remembered when he seemed to give up the conflict about patronage. In the exercise of his constitutional prerogative the President has prescribed to himself and published the rules by which he will hereafter proceed in making appointments to the civil service, and by those rules it becomes impossible for any member of Congress to have any voice or influence in the matter. By one stroke he has achieved liberty for himself and his successors, and has overturned the system of political corruption which, having been established by President Jackson, has been perpetuated by all Administrations and all political parties to this day.

What shall the politicians do? They can no longer set before their wire-pullers and supporters in their States and districts the hope of clerkships at Washington, and places in Post Offices and Custom-houses, or of consulships abroad. If they want to offer rewards for electioneering services, they must offer their own money, and not the people's. What can they do? Just on the eve of a great election the President, who ought to be the embodiment of the party and the executive organ of its will, has actually thrown away all the means on which they depended for carrying the election. Not that they are anxious about electing him; the people will take care of that. But how shall the members of Congress be nominated and elected? And, indeed, what will be the value of a seat in Congress with no patronage? No wonder they begin to growl—perhaps howl would be the better word for the noise they will soon be making. Hear them: "The latest political delusion!" "The Chinese system!" "The appointing power transferred from the President to a committee of schoolmasters!" "An aristocracy of officeholders!" "As if ignorant and incapable men had not as good a right to be in office as the best informed and most capable!"

We shall see how they mean to help themselves. They do not mean to surrender just yet. But the people may be sure that U. S. Grant "means to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."—Independent.

One year's Democratic rule in West Virginia shows an increase of $223,737 in expenditures over the previous years, when a Republican administration had control. We may add that the State government of Oregon is now costing a great deal more than it did under Republican administration, even if we include in the latter all the "irregularities" and "frauds" which partisan ingenuity has been able to trump up against it.

A strange fatality prevails among the Republican State Senators of Pennsylvania. Three times within fifteen months the Senate has been left a tie—16 Democrats to 16 Republicans—by the death of one of their number, Senator Evans being the last.

The San Francisco Bulletin says that Mrs. Corbett is the most beautiful and Mrs. Carpenter the cleverest of the Senators' wives.

Still Another Remarkable Cure.

San Francisco, Nov. 10, 1871.

DR. A. M. LORYEA & CO.—For two years I was afflicted with Rheumatism, and tried all the known remedies, but experienced nothing more than a temporary relief, the disease always returning. Some months since I concluded to take your Unk Weed Remedy, and the result was a Speedy and Permanent Cure, the Rheumatism being entirely eradicated from the system. The "UNK" is also a Tonic of the very highest order. It increases the appetite, and invigorates the body. I cheerfully bear testimony to its good effect upon me, and feel sure that it will do all you claim for it.

Very truly yours,

THE SECOND LECTURE OF THE COURSE WILL be delivered by W. D. HARE, Esq., on Wednesday Evening, March 13th, 1872,

at 7½ o'clock,

SUBJECT—"Ought we to have a National System of Compulsory Education?"

This subject is rapidly assuming great importance in the minds of the people of the United States. The sentiment is growing that we should not longer be content to see ourselves surpassed by the monarchical governments of Europe. Our existence as a nation depends upon popular education, and our advancement in national power, wisdom and virtue will keep pace with its extension. Already has a bill been introduced in Congress looking toward the establishment of a National System, and we shall soon find it to be an important element in our politics.

MR. HARE has devoted considerable study to this subject, and his Lecture will be a plea for a national law, showing the necessity for it in a moral, religious and civil point. He will show the errors in our present system, and prove that we have the power to remedy the defects by Congressional enactment.

No one who has the welfare of his country at heart can afford to miss this Lecture. It is impossible to overestimate its importance. Of Mr. Hare's ability to treat this subject it is unnecessary to speak. He is well known in this community as a man of profound and honest convictions, a lawyer of much ability and a fluent and agreeable speaker. His name is sufficient guarantee that the subject will be presented with all the power which its importance demands. mh6dtd

Communication Between Portland and Vancouver.—In regard to the enterprise of making a plank road and ferry connection between Portland and Vancouver which has lately been somewhat agitated the Vancouver Register of Saturday has the following to say We are to have a steam ferry at last Capt Eph Baugh has brought to this place on Wednesday last a steam ferry boat, which has until recently done service in Portland for Captain Knott After a few [illegible] repairs he will make regular trips from this shore to the terminus of the wagon road near Switzler's on the Oregon shore We are requested to state that as soon as arrangements can be perfected further particulars concerning the times of arrival and departure and schedule of prices will be published What we want next is a good plank road, connecting East Portland with the Columbia, a distance of about five miles We feel reasonably sure, that a few thousand dollars can be raised at Vancouver in aid of this enterprise, but more is needed, and we appeal to the [illegible] men of Portland for assistance in this undertaking A city of Portland's commercial importance and bright prospects ought to be liberal in opening new avenues of trade and multiplying the facilities for trade to neighboring towns and settlements We have now a farming [illegible] of nearly two thousand in this county [illegible] and large tracts of unappropriated public land [illegible] of profitable cultivation which have [illegible] unsettled owing to our somewhat isolation and distance from the great highways of trade. The products of our soil seek their [illegible] market in Portland, and transportation by the old route is too costly to induce many [illegible] of farm produce Our farmers want [illegible] drayage, wharfage, storage, freight [illegible] their produce, and their own passage [illegible] want a good road at all seasons of [illegible] can convey their own produce [illegible] go when they please The completion [illegible] will stimulate our farmers to [illegible] larger crops, tend to the settlement of many new places, and result in a corresponding benefit to Portland Besides, Portland wants another outlet for her citizens, who seek recreation and [illegible]. The Macadamized road is entirely [illegible] for the purpose. Vancouver with the [illegible] scenery surrounding it, the delightful drives, the novel pomp and paraphernalia of a [illegible] post, the numerous trout streams and lakes and the fine hunting grounds in the vicinity, afford a suburban retreat to our Portland neighbors far more attractive and less expensive than [illegible] and other places at a great distance.

Man Found with His Throat Cut.—Now we have another mystery A day or two since a man [illegible] John Carey, a stone mason, who has been employed on the Post Office and Custom house, was found lying on his bed in his own room, with his throat cut and with severe knife [illegible] on his left arm He was boarding at a house just above Madison, on First street On the night before the discovery he had been out during the evening and had been drinking several times but he was heard to come in and go to his room about 10 o'clock, after which he was not seen by anybody about the house till late the next day, when, his absence exciting inquiry his room door was [illegible] and he was found in the condition above mentioned He was lying in a state of [illegible], with his head hanging over the side of the bed, while the room was splashed in various places with blood, and the bed clothes were so [illegible] as to indicate that he was up when the deed was done, or had afterward got up and then [illegible] again to the bed On being spoken to he [illegible] reared up, and in answer to the inquiry what had happened, replied, "I don't [illegible]" The services of a physician were at once [illegible], and after taking a restorative potion he [illegible] to converse with those about him [illegible] that the evening before, while he was out, he had drinked at two saloons, that after [illegible] at one of these he [illegible] nothing more, and had no recollection of how he got to his room or what had happened up to the time when he was found His conduct and general [illegible] was indicated that he had been heavily [illegible], and that he must have lain in the stupor [illegible] hours. The first supposition was that he had [illegible] suicide but subsequent investigation [illegible] to the conclusion that while he slept some one [illegible] attempted to murder him There was no knife or other cutting instrument found in the room except a small knife in his pocket, and that [illegible] no evidence of having been used for any such work. So far as we can learn, no one in the house heard any unusual noise in [illegible] room during the night The whole affair is still in mystery.

Death of a Soldier.—We clip the following from the [illegible] Democrat "We are informed that Col. H [illegible] who left this city a couple of [illegible] ago on a visit to the Atlantic States, died at his [illegible] residence, in Illinois, a few days ago. He was a very weak invalid when he left here, and having been one of the victims of the snow [illegible] on the Pacific railroad, suffering [illegible] and privation for several weeks, he only lived long enough to reach loved friends before his spirit departed. He leaves a sorrowing wife and two children, who now reside at Corvallis" Col. A. G. Hess served with distinction in the U. S. [illegible] army during the late war of rebellion, and contracted through wounds, exposure and [illegible] the disease which finally terminated his life, paralysis. He went East to avail [illegible] of the services of a physician who had [illegible] noted for successful treatment of paralysis, but the hardships of the snow blockade were too great for his shattered health, and he sank to his grave, one of the Union's martyrs Colonel Hess was a member of Baker Post No 1, G A R., of this city

Sunday School.—A visitor to the Taylor street M E Sunday school writes us a [illegible]tion, from which we take the following in regard to the department devoted to Chinese [illegible] "But my attention was called more directly to the Chinese Sabbath school There were [illegible] between 35 and 40 Chinese, young and old. The M E Church has long been laboring for the evangelizing of the heathen but they have [illegible] gone too far from their home to begin their work Their aspirations have now taken the right turn—they are beginning at home—and I hope their labors will be crowned with success They deserve the aid of all persons Lend them a hand, and make this a success, and after awhile you will no longer see the filthy Chinamen that [illegible] were, but you will find them deeply interested, and trying to be a civilized people

Passengers for California.—The steamship Oriflamme sailed Saturday evening for San Francisco, with the following list of passengers Daniel C Babcock and wife, Miss Lizzie DeBarny Miss Julia Partell, Lazarus Ackerman, N Baum Mr Cline, Mrs L Ach, Mrs H Opitz, Louis Schwa[illegible], Levi Ankeny Wm B Wilkins, George [illegible], S Metzger, L E Blaine, W H Kuhn D A [illegible], J Kraemer, A Labbe Frank Coleman [illegible] Levy, M M Metcalf John Buckley, J Towe and wife F Levy, W F Boothby, Mrs S Dennison and 2 children, Mrs Cranfill and infant B Blumauer Henry Ackerman Joseph Myers Mrs E G Ingalls, Miss C A Kenuse S Harris L J Ballard G L DeFrans, E Wingate C H Meusdorfer, Wm Dipple John Dooley John Green T M Morgan Eugene Breyman Alfred Crossman W F & Co's messenger and 25 others

Plank Road Meeting.—The stockholders of the Portland and Washington County Plank Road Company held a meeting in this city last Saturday, at which the following resolution was adopted "That a committee of three be appointed to employ a competent surveyor to survey the different routes leading from Portland to Centerville in Washington county also, from Portland to Hillsboro

Fire Companies Meetings.—The several fire companies have been requested by the Board of Foremen to hold meetings this evening to consider the invitations extended to the Department to participate in the celebration of St Patrick's Day

County Hospital Report.—The report of the Superintendent of the County Hospital for February shows that twelve patients were admitted during the month eight discharged and one sent to California

The Bulletin reporter says "the delightful weather yesterday brought many of our citizens to the streets" he fails to say what took them back into their houses again

Sammy Dwyer a California pugilist, will have an examination to-day before Judge Denny on two or three charges of assault and battery and assault with a deadly weapon

To the Afflicted.—Dr Aborn corner Third and Morrison streets treats with unparalleled success all chronic diseases no matter how painful or long standing

Lassitude and Debility.

The relaxation of nervous energy which creates an indisposition to physical or mental effort so strong as almost to amount to positive inability and which we term lassitude proceeds from a variety of causes The principal of those are constitutional debility heat of the atmosphere coupled with humidity climatic changes and the physical prostration consequent upon a long illness But whatever the cause it must be perfectly clear that if the nervous system is suddenly relaxed something is required to brace it up That something is Hostetter's Bitters which is universally recognized as the most complete and speedy recuperant of the physical forces in existence It has been so thoroughly and widely demonstrated as to be a matter of positive certainty and familiar knowledge that the Bitters will not only rehabilitate the physique when shattered and wasted by disease but will also if taken systematically actually compensate the constitutionally feeble frame for its deficiency of strength and by infusing new life into a weak system endow it with the health and vigor which Nature has denied it The Bitters also enable the body to resist the enervating influences of heat, humidity and changes from a temperate to a hot climate It is on these accounts specially to be recommended to travelers and residents in the torrid zone and persons subjected to abrupt transitions in temperature

A Child of Earth

I wandered long beside the silent waters
[illegible] suns were warm and winds were [illegible]
[illegible] were stretching on before me
[illegible] paths were pleasant to my tread

[illegible] hung between me and [illegible]
I gathered summer fruitage red and gold
[illegible] singers sang of pleasure
My days went by like stories that are told

[illegible] grew roses for my [illegible]
As red as love or pale as tender pain
I found [illegible] thorns to vex me in my garlands
Each day was good and nothing [illegible]

Sometimes I danced as in a dream to music
And kept [illegible] time with my flying feet
And some one praised me in the music s pauses
And very young [illegible] love was sweet

[illegible] I listen to the low voice calling
[illegible] or leave the music and thy mirth
How [illegible] stop to hear [illegible] far off heaven
[illegible] and [illegible] a child of earth

Then [illegible] a hand and took away my treasure
[illegible] the gold and cut my rose-tree down
Changed my dance into mournful measure
Quenched the bright day and turned the green [illegible] brown

Till walking lonely through the empty places
Where love and I [illegible] kept holiday
My sad eyes growing wonted to the darkness
Beheld a new light shining far away

And I could [illegible] my hopes should [illegible] around me
Dead like my flowers fallen before their time
For well I knew some tender spring would [illegible]
To brighter blossoms in that far off clime

Where shines the light of an unending morning
Where fair things bloom and never [illegible]
And the glad rose of a celestial dawning
Flushes the heavenly heights eternally

Boise Assay Office

The Boise Statesman of the 2d instant furnishes the annexed intelligence

We are informed by Superintendent McBride that the U S Assay Office is now equipped with the necessary material for doing business Some of the material necessary to begin operations was long delayed on the road but it came to hand at last and the furnaces have since been placed in readiness for work In the absence of the assayer appointed by the President Mr A Rossi will have charge of that branch of the institution His long experience in and well known fitness for that business will lend credit to the institution at once and establish confidence in the public mind that whatever work may be intrusted to the U S Assay Office will be faithfully and correctly performed We also notice that the tariff of charges fixed by the Government is so low that this institution can scarcely fail to do all the assaying for the southern portion of the Territory and for eastern Oregon Persons having assaying to do can rely upon having their work well done, and returns made without delay

The Coolie Question in Cuba —In view of the evident intention of the military Spanish party to reduce the eighty thousand Chinese now in Cuba to a condition of slavery, it becomes a grave question whether the point is not reached at which it is the bounden duty of the Christian and civilized powers of the world to interfere to prevent the execution of so atrocious a design For it is apparent that no matter what laws may have heretofore been passed by the now disregarded Spanish government, or by humane governors of the island all laws and ideas of justice are at present trampled under foot, and that the Chinese now in Cuba are being made the victims of outrages as black and infamous as any which disgraced the days of Cortez It is said that the Consuls of Great Britain, France, Italy Holland, Belgium and Denmark, are engaged in drawing up a protest against Valmaseda s recent proclamation and the [illegible] proceedings subsequently had under it In this protest it would seem eminently proper that our own Consul General should join. The Chinese in Havana are reported to be holding meetings in secret to see if some steps cannot be taken to secure the good offices of the British Consul in their behalf The New York Mail sees no other alternative in the matter than for the Chinese government to declare war against the Spanish authorities in Cuba, and it argues that although China has no navy with her abundant supplies of money she could hire ships of war and stout fighters to man them and within three months place a fleet on the coast of Cuba that would require the attention of the entire Spanish navy besides conveying to the patriot Cubans arms enough to enable them to drive into Havana all the Spanish troops on the island and this without so much as risking the life of a single Chinaman Whether this plan would be as feasible as it looks, perhaps admits of argument but that some means of putting a stop to the heinous crimes which in Cuba are disgracing the very name of civilization and humanity ought speedily to be adopted would seem to admit of no question at all

When do Men Die?—Medical experience proves that, in chronic diseases, the greater number of deaths occur just before dawn This is eminently true of brain diseases, and of all those [illegible] cases where death results from an exhaustion of the vital power through overwork, excessive excitement, or nervous prostration It is at the hour of five o clock in the morning that the life force is at its lowest ebb and succumbs most readily to the assault of epilepsy or paralysis or of the fatal lethargy that comes in those vividly beautiful picture dreams, for which medical science has as yet no name, and of which it has taken no sufficient cognizance Nine-tenths of those who die in this way expire in their sleep In many such cases, if a friend were at hand to waken the sleeper when the attack comes on or if he were to be awakened by some accidental noise, he might, by the use of a few simple precautions, prolong his life for many years, for the shock which proves fatal to the man wrapped in deep sleep, when the system is passive and relaxed, would be victoriously repelled were it armed with all its waking energies. Men who do brain work and who are on the shady side of forty, should be on their guard against this insidious enemy They should beware of five o clock A M for it is a perilous hour Do you find yourself unable to sleep, when you retire for the night exhausted with your day's work? Do you in vain, turn from one side to the other? Does your brain persist in working when you would fain have it rest? Do old saws, and scraps of rhyme repeat themselves in your memory with wearisome iteration, defying your utmost efforts to silence them? Then I say to you beware! You will be sure to sleep at last It is only a question of time, for soon or late nature will assert her rights

Secretary Seward at Home —George Francis Train, in his talk at Auburn related the following interesting facts in regard to Secretary Seward His house is a museum of curiosities Presents from all parts of the world. Mr Seward must have 5,000 volumes in his collection of forty years There are 100 files of private letters during his eight years Secretaryship I wish he had kept his twelve years of correspondence as Senator from 1849 to 1861 I hope I am not encroaching on private hospitality as he is a public man, by saying that I found him with his amanuensis and his daughter busily making notes of his wonderful voyage round the world a book that will contain some 400 plates and 600 pages of talks with Kings Sultans Khedives Tycoons, Mikadoes, and the Emperor of China A book that a century ago would have been a Munchausen—an Arabian Night s tale It must be remembered Mr Seward, at three score years and ten crossed all the mountains rivers and oceans of the world The book will no doubt have an immense sale and Appleton will share no expense in making it the grand success of the new book world

Petitions from Pennsylvania signed largely by workmen in our mills and mines in favor of free tea and coffee, are pouring into Congress It is interesting to observe that the free-trade revenue reformers are silent on the subject Professing to desire to lift the burden of imports from the consumers of the country they hesitate or betray opposition the moment it is proposed to strike at the root of the matter They are for high duties on tea coffee and other imported necessaries not produced at home and the free introduction of foreign manufactures coming in competition with home industry This is the exact definition of their position It is the workingman s question, and it is gratifying to see so much interest in regard to it Thousands of names should go from our mills mines and factories demanding free tea and coffee and protection for home products and labor

Mail advices from Victoria report that the Legislature of British Columbia adopted on March 2d the Canadian Tariff Its adoption by British Columbia causes but little gratification to the advantage of Vancouver s Island We are not in receipt of a copy of this tariff bill but know that it provides lighter duties on some articles and advances on others [illegible] The tariff takes effect on the 1st of May unless an act has been since adopted for it to take effect sooner Until after the new tariff goes into effect the trade with Victoria and Nanaimo in breadstuffs and other articles placed on the free list together with articles on which the duties are to be modified, will be very light

The British Board of Trade has published a statement of the foreign trade of Great Britain for the year 1871 The total value of imports was £325 824 647 and the exports of British and Colonial Produce amount to £2[illegible] 319,071 Each of these aggregates are larger by twenty millions of pounds sterling than for any preceding year The increase of imports during the year was seven and three-quarters per cent The returns are as yet incomplete, but some interesting facts are nevertheless to be made from them Great Britain imported almost sixteen [illegible] hundred weight of Raw Cotton of which the United States sold her nine million India four million and Egypt one and a half millions The imports of other raw materials for textile fabrics and their values were as follows

	Cwt	£
Wool	[illegible]319 511 356	17 436 890
Silk	8 254 486	5 914 040
Flax	2 562 316	5 761 163
Hemp	1 520 747	2 376 392
Jute		4 006 000

The leading article of export was Cotton goods of which nearly thirty hundred million yards were sent out of a value of nearly sixty million dollars—or more than one-quarter of the whole Woolen and Worsted goods were sold to the value of twenty seven million pounds sterling America being the best customer in this as well as in certain other departments of the textile trade, and in some branches of the iron business The arrivals and clearances are shown by the following table

	Inward	Outward
British vessels	tons 11 426,567	12 407,178
Foreign vessels	5 178 595	5 517 954
Total	16 413,102	19,055 1[illegible]

The aggregate tonnage value of the arrivals from the United States was £2,00[illegible] which was more than fifty per cent higher than from any other country but the tonnage of the arrivals of American vessels from all parts was but 667 607 tons or about one-eighth of the foreign tonnage But in comparison with 1870 it shows an increase of 34½ per cent and with 1860 an increase of 72 per cent

Resolved That the parties settling upon and improving any of the lands of the European and Oregon Land Company, before the same are opened for market shall be entitled to the pre-emption privilege of purchase on the same terms as the Company would sell the land for without improvement, and shall be subject to the same conditions of payment, as all other lands belonging to the Company when brought into market, provided such settlers shall file in the Land Office of said Company written application, giving notice of such settlement, and shall accept the privilege upon the condition that when the price of the land shall be fixed notice thereof shall be sent by the Company s Land Agent through the Postoffice or otherwise as may be convenient, to the residence of the party claiming the pre-emption privilege, and if the land is not purchased by the said party within sixty days from the date of such notice the Company will be at liberty to sell the land to any other person
